Bake Sale

A bake sale planned by the Senior Class is another activity with the intentions of earning money for the Senior Class trip, which will begin April 19.

All food for the sale will be donated by the surrounding community and will be picked up by the members of the Senior Class Friday night and early Saturday morning. The sale is to be held in Smiths Appliance Store in Connersville from 9:00 to 12:00 - clock Saturday, March 8.

WHEN A TEACHER SAYS:

- "Where do you belong this period?"
- "I don't believe in much home work."
- "I can't find the Seniors."
- "This is really an educating textbook."

HE REALLY MEANS

- "Get to class--on the double."
- "Do ten pages for tomorrow."
- "The Seniors are having another come break."
- "I wrote it."

Skating Party

The skating party scheduled for March 18 has been changed to March 11.

Parents and friends of the students are welcome to ride the bus.

Admission will be same as usual, fifty cents for admittance and forty cents for the rental of skates.

DID YOU KNOW.....

Wyatt Earp chews bubble gum?
At one time all the basketball tournaments were held in the Fairview gym?

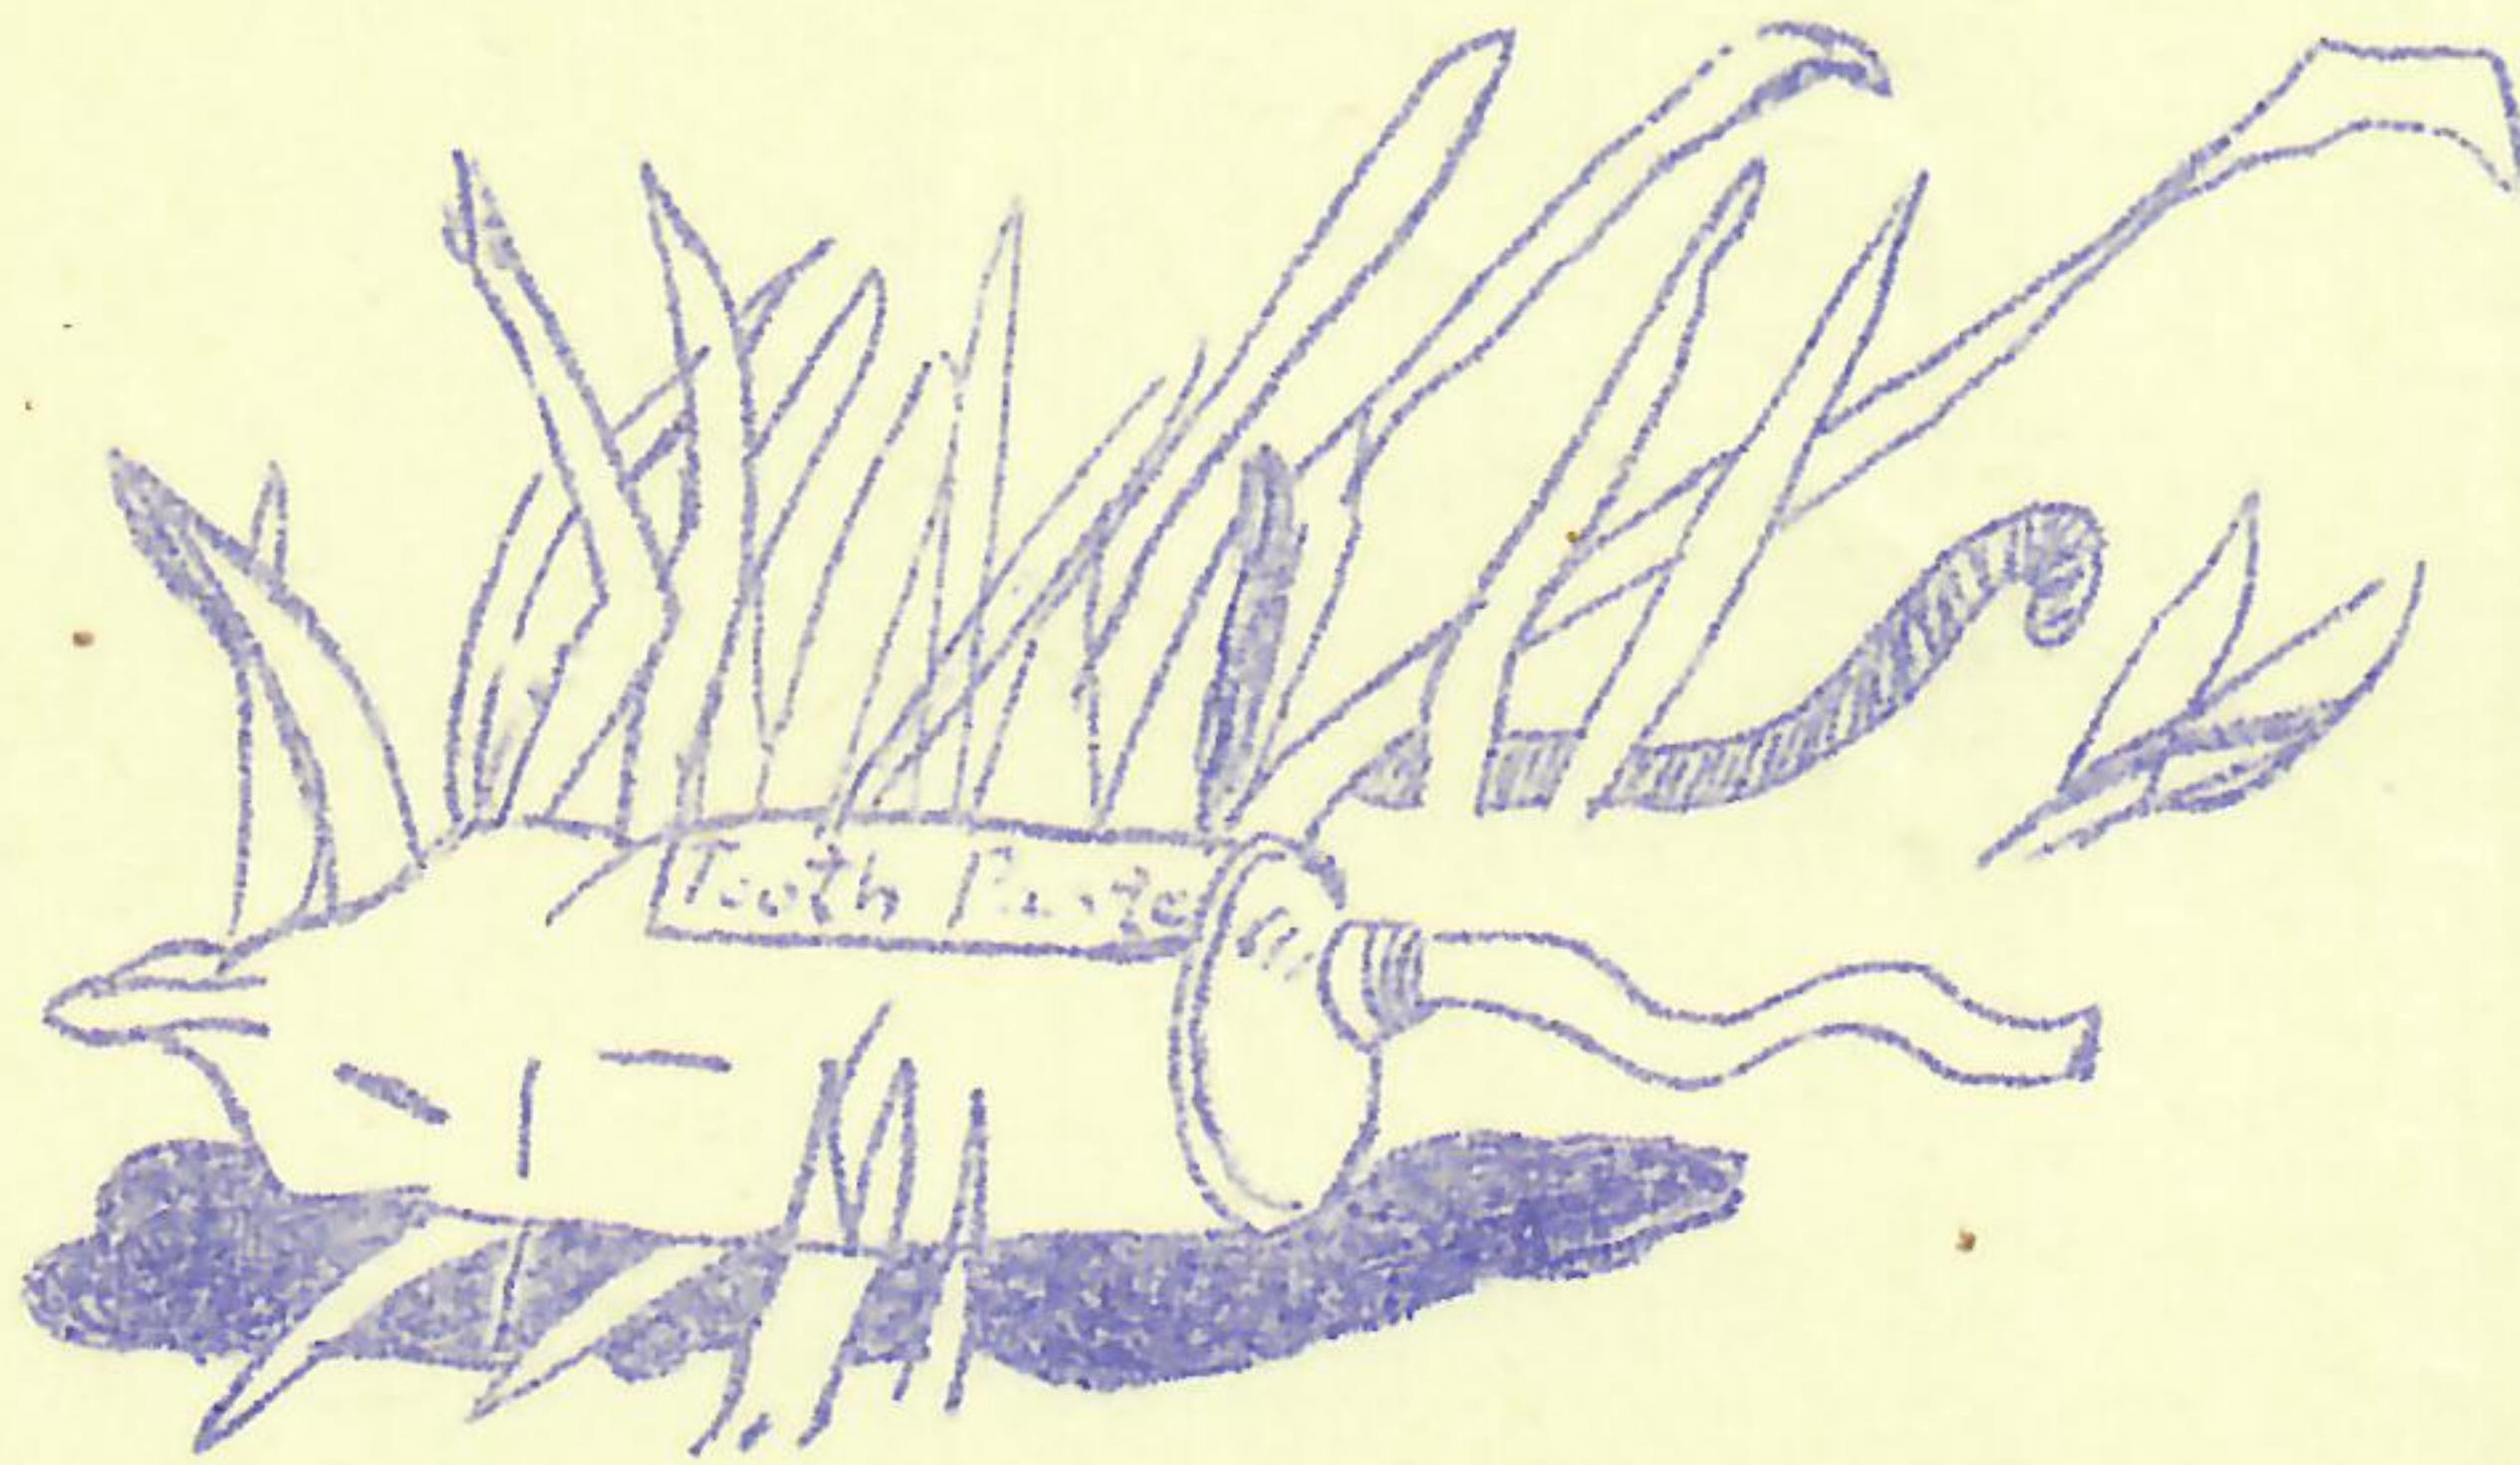

The average person sleeps nearly half of his life?

Jim Hedrick chews almost twenty packs of chewing gum a week? (Just common gossip?)

Don't Forget...

The Senior Record Hop, March 22 at the 4-H Building at 8:00'clock. Everyone is invited to attend and enjoy the fun with Bouncin' Bill Baker and his realllll cool records.

March

Before January and February were introduced into the calendar the Roman year had only ten months and March, named in honor of the god Mars, was the first instead of the third month. In the Middle Ages the year was usually reckoned as beginning March 25. England did not abandon this practice until 1752. The last three days of March were once supposed to have been borrowed from April, and according to an old proverb they are always stormy. The vernal equinox falls on March 21, so the month is part winter and part spring. According to the old saying if it "comes in like a lion it will go out like a lamb."

"The Hot-rodder"

He hopped in his car,
started up fast;
put her in low,
then tromped on the gas.

With a squeal of his tires,
and a tug at the wheel;
he sped down the street,
and turned up the hill.

He shifted to second,
then back down to high;
he tromped on the gas feed,
and started to fly.

He sped down road 40,
then passed a state cop;
a red light flashed on,
he came to a quick stop.

Tomorrow, there's a trial,
he doesn't have a chance;
12 men will find him guilty,
and a penalty will enhance.

The verdict was guilty,
fifteen dollars and a day;
take my advice,
speeding just doesn't pay.

B A S E B A L L

Well it seems that basketball has about ended for another season. There will be no more yelling at the referees, watching the yell leaders or jumping up and down when a player of the home team makes a point. But we aren't too sad because another thrilling sport is coming into view, the game of baseball. So before the season gets to good a start lets learn a little bit of baseball history.

The game of baseball is the national past-time. The first game was played in the colonial times. It was known as rounders in those days.

The first organized game was played in New York in 1858. The game was played in New York and also in Brooklyn. From that day on, the game spread throughout the country. There was two Leagues formed. In 1876 the National Leagues was founded, and in 1900 the American Leagues was founded.

The first club composed of professional players was the Cincinnati Red Stockings, founded in 1868. The National League was started in 1876 with a membership of 8 clubs. The American Association was organized in 1882.

Basketball, as it is now, is composed of many teams, representing many of our cities. Many small leagues have started in many cities and they are doing very well. They have given us familiar names as Babe Ruth, Lou Gerig, Stan Musial, Roger Hornsburch and Ted Williams.

Baseball will always be our National past-time as long as there are teams to play the game. Many of the old pioneers are gone but their memory will stay as Baseball's greatest contribution to the game.

Many of the old pioneers are honored each year in the Baseball Hall of Fame in Coppersville.

As spring training gets under way, lets not forget the man who have made this game possible.

Many clubs are training now for the season opener on April 15. As they open the season they will be fighting each other for the pennant. Then on to the world series.

From the Girls

Point of View

Many boys have the mistaken idea that girls know nothing about the game of basketball. Here's proof that they do.

As they see it, there is something valuable about that ball because there are ten men fighting over it. And, a man dressed in zebra stripes blows a whistle every time one of them start playing tug-of-war with the ball.

First they go to a circle in the middle of the floor where they have a jumping contest. Then they have a race to one side of the floor, and then back to the other side.

One of the zebra strip men blows his whistle and everyone stops and lets one guy throw the ball thru the small butterfly net, which doesn't really make much sense because the ball never stays in the net. It falls right through the bottom. Then a number is put on a thing they call a scoreboard. The girls declare it looks like a clock marked off in minutes and seconds.

After 16 minutes of play all the men in short pants go to a place called a dressing room for a coffee break.

After the coffee break, someone toots a horn and they start chasing each other again. You can always tell when the game is over because everyone is jumping up and down. On the other side they are crying because their team lost.

Then a lazy men who sits on the bench during the game is put on someone's shoulders and paraded around the floor.

Sometimes they cut down the net, which seems a good idea judging by all the holes in the net and it doesn't ever have a bottom in it.

They need new ones anyway. ones that will hold the ball and not let it fall through
